

THE WORLD FOOD PRIZE

SOCIAL MEDIA KIT

LAWRENCE HADDAD & DAVID NABARRO

Lawrence Haddad and David Nabarro will receive the 2018 World Food Prize for their individual and complementary global leadership in elevating maternal and child undernutrition to a central issue within the food security and development dialogue at national and international levels.

Dr. Lawrence Haddad and Dr. David Nabarro will be honored as the 2018 World Food Prize Laureates for their individual efforts in reducing maternal and early childhood malnutrition in Africa, South Asia and Latin America.

Dr. Haddad persuaded policymakers to place a high priority on global nutrition, particularly since improving nutrition will almost halve child mortality before the age of 5. He also created initiatives for accountability and guidance in global nutrition through the creation of the Global Nutrition Report, which analyzed government advancements in reducing malnutrition. Through Dr. Haddad's leadership, governments were able to see their progress and allocate resources where they're needed most to combat malnutrition across the globe.

Dr. David Nabarro coordinated the UN's Scaling Up Nutrition (SUN) Movement, which established the magnitude of child malnutrition through science-based evidence and highlighted the lack of progress towards a solution. Under Dr. Nabarro's direction, the SUN Movement unified leaders of countries suffering from food issues, donors from charitable organizations and members of civil society groups. His efforts helped establish agriculture and food issues as a mainstream concern, and his creation of various nutrition interventions were implemented by national governments.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION ONLINE!

2018 World Food Prize Laureates Drs. Lawrence Haddad and David Nabarro worked to unify global food and nutrition efforts through their influence on public policy. #FoodPrize18

Congratulations to Drs. Lawrence Haddad and David Nabarro on winning the 2018 World Food Prize! They will be recognized for their individual efforts in improving maternal and child nutrition in October during the Borlaug Dialogue, held in Des Moines, Iowa. #FoodPrize18

The World Food Prize is proud to announce the 2018 Laureates: Drs. Lawrence Haddad and David Nabarro. Their individual leadership helped elevate the importance of childhood and maternal nutrition, leading to improvements in the health of millions of children in Africa, South Asia, and Latin America. #FoodPrize18

@WorldFoodPrize

/WorldFoodPrize

@WorldFoodPrize

GRAPHICS AVAILABLE: click images for a high resolution version

Dr. Lawrence Haddad and Dr. David Nabarro will receive the 2018 World Food Prize for their individual and complementary global leadership in elevating maternal and child undernutrition to a central issue within the food security and development dialogue at national and international levels. #FOODPRIZE18

Dr. Lawrence Haddad and Dr. David Nabarro will receive the 2018 World Food Prize for their individual and complementary global leadership in elevating maternal and child undernutrition to a central issue within the food security and development dialogue at national and international levels. #FOODPRIZE18